Speaking Truth

In all ages God has regarded bearing false witness to be a transgression of His law. Many today see little harm in gossip, false accusations, or slander. We must be careful in the way we speak, so we may give grace to those who hear.

Putting Love Into Words

By Don Loftis

As we journey through life, we often fail to tell others how much they really mean to us. This is especially true with those we are closest to. This may occur, because we are too busy or find it difficult to deal with emotional language. It may be that we feel others already know our feelings. You may recall Reba McIntyre’s song about a young lady and her distant relationship with her father who had just died. The song says, “He never said he loved me; I guess he thought I knew.” Unspoken love or admiration is often never perceived.

One week prior to his death at the First Battle of Bull Run, Major Sullivan Ballou wrote to his wife Sarah, “My love for you is deathless. If I do not return my dear Sarah, never forget how much I loved you nor that when my last breath escapes me on the battlefield, it will whisper your name.” What comfort that letter must have been!

Maybe a bit less more poetic, but just as powerful was the note left behind by Randy McCloy, the lone survivor of the recent Sago Mine disaster. Just hours before he thought that he would die, he wrote to his family, “Anna, I love you so much. To my son, trust in the Lord. To my daughter, stay sweet.” Though he lived, this note must continue to be viewed as a priceless declaration of love.

It is imperative that we take the time and struggle to find the words to convey our love. Whether it is delivered by mail, over the phone, or face-to-face, these affirmations of our love cement relationships and provide great strength in times of adversity. To whom do you need to express your feelings of love? Is it a parent? A child? Your mate? A close friend? Whoever it is, today is the day for action. Let’s put our love into words.

Scriptural Giving

By Larry Fluitt

All of us should want to give scripturally, that is, as the Master wants us to give. If we fail to please Him, we have failed utterly. II Corinthians 8 furnishes a guide to giving. In this chapter we find a number of principles which, if honored, will insure scriptural giving.

1. Scriptural giving shows our JOY!

“that in a great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded in the riches of their liberality” (v.2)

2. Scriptural giving shows our TRUST!

“For I bear witness that according to their ability, yes, and beyond their ability, they were freely willing” (v.3)

3. Scriptural giving shows our COMMITMENT!

“And not only as we had hoped, but they first gave themselves to the Lord, and then to us by the will of God” (v.5)

4. Scriptural giving shows our LOVE!

“I speak not by commandment, but I am testing the sincerity of your love by the diligence of others” (v.8)

5. Scriptural giving shows our GRATITUDE!

“For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor, that you through His poverty might become rich” (v.9)

6. Scriptural giving shows our WILLINGNESS!

“For if there is first a willing mind, it is accepted according to what one has, and not according to what he does not have” (v.12)
